DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1, 3-13 and 15-17 are pending in this application and were examined on their merits.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114 was filed in this application after appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences, but prior to a decision on the appeal. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114 and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the appeal has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114 and prosecution in this application has been reopened pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 08/20/07 has been entered.

The rejection of Claims 1 and 3-7 under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by Shaw et al. (1997) has been withdrawn because the Applicant's arguments with regard to plasma being a tissue were found to be persuasive.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claims 1, 3-7 and 10-13 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shaw et al. (1997) for reasons of record set forth in the Prior Action.

Claims 1, 3-7, 9-13, 15 and 16 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shaw et al. (1997) in view of Glazier et al. (US 5,627,165) for reasons of record set forth in the Prior Action.

Claims 1, 3-8, 10-13 and 17 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shaw et al. (1997) in view of Starret et al. (US 5,663,159) for reasons of record set forth in the Prior Action.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments, see Remarks, filed 08/20/07, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1, 3-7 under 35 U.S.C. 102 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn.

Applicant's arguments filed 08/20/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The Applicant argues that Shaw et al. teaches the differential distribution of an active metabolite in plasma, not defined as a tissue as it contains no cells. Further, even if it were obvious to measure the level of metabolite compound in blood as opposed to plasma, Shaw et al. would not be measuring the level in different tissues only in tissue blood (Remarks, Pg. 1-2).

This is not found to be persuasive for the following reasons, Shaw et al. teaches the administration of the prodrug PMPA to plasma and to tissue homogenates of liver and intestine. In plasma, intestine and liver, the PMPA and prodrug compounds are shown to be enzymatically (esterase) degraded over time. As plasma is blood plasma with the cells removed (monocytes, macrophages, etc) but with the enzyme components remaining, one of ordinary skill in the art would have concluded that the degradation observed in plasma would have been the same in whole blood. Therefore, plasma and whole blood would have been recognized as functionally equivalent as they would provide equivalent results. One of ordinary skill in the art would certainly have recognized that whole blood and intestinal and liver homogenates were different tissues as defined in the instant specification.

Art Unit: 1657

The Applicant argues that as Shaw et al. and Glazier et al. allegedly address completely different distinct problems and objectives that there is not basis to combine them (Remarks, Pg. 2).

In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). The teachings of both Shaw et al. and Glazier et al. and the response to the arguments that there is no basis for combining the two were discussed at length in the prior action.

Conclusion

No Claims are allowed.

All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114.

Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
